

Contributors

Violetta Balzhinimaeva – a graduate of the Faculty of Law at the Higher School of Economics in Moscow; completed postgraduate studies at the Post-Graduate School of Law at HSE; currently a PhD candidate and a manager at the Centre for Education Law at HSE.

Anna De Ambrosis Vigna – PhD. LL.M, assistant professor at the Department of Administrative Law at the Faculty of Law, University of Bialystok; graduate of the Michigan State University College of Law; author of publications on administrative law, comparative law, higher education law.

Dominika Cendrowicz – PhD in Law, assistant professor at the Institute of Administrative Science, Faculty of Law, Administration and Economics, University of Wrocław; her research interests include administrative science, administrative law, comparative administrative law, social assistance, civil service systems in comparative perspective, sociology of organizations and English language in administrative law. She is especially interested in social tasks of the Polish local self-government; she has particular interests in the sphere of social assistance and homelessness.

Sofia Engurazova – research assistant at the Centre for Education Law, Institute of Education, Higher School of Economics in Moscow; currently finishing her bachelor's degree at the Faculty of Law and starting her master's studies in financial law.

Jakub Grzegorz Firlus – M.A. in law and administration, assistant professor, Chair of Administrative Procedure, Jagiellonian University.

Marcin Kamiński – Professor of the Jagiellonian University in Cracow at the Department of Administrative Proceedings; author of more than 80 publications on administrative substantive law, administrative procedural law and judicial-administrative proceedings; Judge delegated to adjudicate in the Supreme Administrative Court.

Maria Karcz-Kaczmarek – PhD, assistant professor at the Department of Administrative Law and Administrative Science at the Faculty of Law and Administration, University of Lodz; author of numerous articles on administrative law, including professional and economic self-government as well as the legal aspects of cultural activities and monument protection; co-author of the Law Encyclopedia, the Local Government Encyclopedia and academic textbooks, completed a scientific scholarship at the University of Strasbourg, becoming acquainted with the functioning of institutions of the European Union and Council of Europe; expert in the project “Good law – efficient governance” (2014 -2015) implemented by the Ministry of Administration and Digitization under the European Social Fund.

Dariusz R. Kijowski – professor, Chief of the Department of Administrative of Law at the Faculty of Law, University of Białystok; President of the Self-government Appeal Board in Białystok; member of the Legislative Council at the Prime Minister Office.

Kamil Klonowski – PhD, adjunct (lecturer) and Chair of Administrative Procedure, Jagiellonian University.

Dominik Kościuk – PhD, assistant professor at the Department of Administrative Law, Faculty of Law, University of Białystok.

Radosław Mędrzycki – associate professor at the Faculty of Administrative Law and Local Government of the Faculty of Law and Administration, Cardinal Stefan Wyszyński University in Warsaw; his research focuses on the social aspects of lawmaking and application, including in particular groups of socially excluded people or those at risk of social exclusion (in particular the homeless, people with disabilities, the elderly) and social solidarity.

Klára Nagy – PhD, works at the Széchenyi István University and at the Mayor’s Office in Győr, Hungary; her research interests focus on the issue of local governments.

Evgenii Puchkov – research assistant at the Centre for Education Law, Institute of Education, Higher School of Economics in Moscow and the deputy head of the Committee for External Relations at the HSE Student Council; he is currently pursuing his master’s degree in international trade and finance law at the Faculty of Law at HSE.

Mariusz Szyrski – PhD, associate professor at the Department of Administrative Law and Local Government at the Faculty of Law and Administration, Cardinal Stefan Wyszyński University in Warsaw; he deals with energy law (RES), environmental law, administrative law and the theory of local self-government.

Justyna SyMBER – a graduate of the Faculty of Law and Administration at the University of Gdansk, presently defending her MA thesis in the Faculty of Criminal Law and Criminology; she is a PhD candidate at the Faculty of Law and Administration of the University of Gdansk and a trainee legal advisor at the Regional Chamber of Legal Advisors in Gdańsk.

Victor Vorobyev – research assistant at the Centre for Education Law, Institute of Education, Higher School of Economics in Moscow; he is currently finishing his master's degree at the Faculty of Law and starting doctoral studies at the Post-Graduate School of Law at HSE; currently Chair of the Student Council and a member of the Academic Council at the HSE Faculty of Law; formerly a Deputy Chair of the Russian Student Union, Head of the Russian Federation Commissioner for Student Rights' Legal Department and a parliamentary assistant at the Legislative Assembly of St. Petersburg's Permanent Commission for Education, Culture, and Science.

Martyna Wilbrandt-Gotowicz – PhD in law, lecturer Chair of Administrative Procedure, Faculty of Law and Administration, Cardinal Stefan Wyszyński University in Warsaw.

